

WANT RAILWAY TO PAY LICENSE

Street Car Company Liable for Stock of Merchandise.

SELLS ELECTRIC FIXTURES

GODMAN HAVING TROUBLE TO COLLECT.

An effort is being made by Samuel I. Godman, license assessor, to collect a merchant's license from the Utah Light & Railway company on the ground that stoves, electric irons and other similar merchandise are being sold by the company.

The officials of the company have taken another view of the situation and have flatly declined to pay the license. As a result Godman has referred the matter to P. J. Daly, assistant city attorney, and he will have a conference with the general counsel of the company, Farley L. Williams.

It is the contention of the city that all other institutions in the city selling electrical fixtures are compelled to pay a regular merchant's license and that it is not fair to these concerns to allow the Utah Light & Railway company to escape this tax.

Covered by Franchise.

The company, on the other hand, says that its franchise covers these matters, and specifically exempts the company from paying a license tax. In addition, it is asserted that the sale of electrical fixtures by the company is simply a part of its function of providing light, heat and power for its customers, and that in no sense is it conducting a mercantile business.

There is every probability that the city will have to bring suit against the company to collect this tax, if it can be collected at all.

Another matter in connection with the same company will soon require the attention of the assessor. That is the license tax imposed on its cars. The company has paid a $25 license on sixty-five cars up to Oct. 1 of this year. That the company has more than sixty-five cars in use each day is known by the assessor, he says, and he will endeavor, on Oct. 1, to collect for at least 100 cars.

When the company took out its last license for cars the statement that only sixty-five cars were in regular use was sworn to by J. S. Wells, general manager. Subsequently an inquiry was made at the car barns and the foreman stated that the number of cars used each day was ninety-eight.

The company will no doubt fight bitterly an increase in its car license, and it is expected that this case will be carried to the supreme court for final adjudication.

Harvey Wells Brought to Light by Newspaper Accounts.

Harvey Wells, who was reported to have been lost between Alta and Salt Lake City, and who caused his wife and his father such dreadful anxiety by his absence, was never lost at all. Wells was an employee of the Columbus Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. at Alta, according to the information given by his father, Henry Wells, 113 Yale street, left Alta Saturday with the purpose in mind to walk the distance to Salt Lake, being prompted so to do by the intelligence that his wife was seriously ill.

The elder Wells was anxious to have parties to be organized and invoked the aid of the authorities, and yesterday Wells was located in Alta, which place he had never left, except to go to Brighton on Sunday to play ball. He is said to have left Alta yesterday, however, when he was informed that his wife had given birth to a baby.

The father was greatly alarmed Monday last his son should have been followed out of Alta camp by desperadoes and slain for the money which he drew from the mine office, and which it was presumed he had in his possession.

INSPECTOR IS MINUS HIS JOB

Investigation Reveals Many
Are Incompetent to Look After Work.

CIVIL SERVICE SUGGESTED

SOME WOULD GIVE CONTRACT TO ENGINEER.

At a meeting of the board of public works yesterday morning Paul Dockendorf was discharged as an inspector because he allowed a contractor to lay a sewer improperly. The sewer was a private one and was being put in by the Utah Light & Railway company for its new car barn.

When asked why he did not see that the work was done properly Dockendorf replied:

"Well, I told the contractor, but he wouldn't listen to me."

He could not explain, however, why he had not enforced his order, as he had a right to do, and was consequently discharged.

As a result of the affair it is probable that another attempt will be made to put the inspectors of the board under the supervision of the city engineer. It is asserted that the Dockendorf instance is not the only one of its kind and that many of the inspectors are named because of their ability as workers in the vineyard rather than because of their knowledge of public work. It is understood that L. C. Kelsey, city engineer, is investigating several other cases where inspectors have not done their work properly and that charges will be brought against them.

Ordinance Was Killed.

Six months ago an ordinance was prepared giving the engineer entire control over inspection. This matter was dropped, however, because of pressure brought to bear on the councilmen back of the move, and it has never been revived. It is not the intention now to revive that particular ordinance, but to frame a law which will make it necessary for every man who desires a job as inspector to pass a civil service examination which will be given by the engineer. Those who pass will alone be eligible to the position, and it is claimed that if the inspectors now in the employ of the board should be required to pass an examination about 90 per cent of them would fail utterly.

Statements Incorrect.

One of the duties of the inspectors is to furnish detailed statements of the number of men employed on the job they are watching; the quantity of material used each day, and the amount of work done. These reports go to the engineer, who makes his estimates, taking them as a basis. It has been found that many of these reports are untrue, and as a result the work of the inspectors in many cases has to be duplicated by the experts from the engineer's office, thus necessitating extra labor and expense which the property owners along the line of the work must pay.

The engineer is reticent concerning the matter and will not state that he believes a change should be made in the method of inspection. That there is agitation toward accomplishing this end is, however, true, and it is more likely that it will be taken up soon by Councilman Fernstrom and the other councilmen in the council who have been endeavoring to correct the abuse for some time.

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS.

Sheepmen Are Urged to Join Wool
Growers' Association.

A circular letter was forwarded to every prominent sheepman of the state yesterday urging that he affiliate with the Utah Wool Growers' association. The benefits derived from the association are dwelt upon in the circular, and the advantages which were obtained for the sheepmen of the state by the introduction of the storage plan, which resulted in securing a price for wool nearly 50 per cent higher than the price before the storage movement was started, are set forth. Every sheepman in the state is urged to come to Salt Lake for the meeting of the executive committee of the National Wool Growers' association, which takes place on Aug. 25. The Utah Wool Growers' association is a branch of the national organization and is endeavoring to bring the sheepmen in meeting the problems confronting the sheep industry in the west.

SPECIAL PRIZE BY OGDEN MAN

Fred Kiesel Offers Premium for Tomatoes—Utah Band to Attend Congress.

Preparations for the Utah exhibit of fruits and grain at the sixteenth national irrigation congress will be made by Thomas Judd, who leaves his home in St. George on Friday for Albuquerque. Mr. Judd, who is president of the state board of horticulture, has had charge of the Utah exhibits at recent sessions of the congress, and he will also superintend the shipment and display of Utah products this year.

The exhibition feature of the congress to be held at Albuquerque beginning Sept. 26 of this year will be more prominent than at any previous irrigation congress for the reason that, in connection with the national gathering of irrigation men, an immense interstate industrial exposition is to be held at Albuquerque.

An addition to the large premium list, a special prize, has been made by Fred Kiesel of Ogden, who offers a fine silver cup as a premium for the best exhibit of tomatoes at the exposition. This cup was first put up by Mr. Kiesel at the fifteenth congress, held at Sacramento last year. Owing to the early date of that congress, which barred exhibitors of tomatoes from irrigated districts, there was no competition for the Kiesel cup. Competition is assured this year, however, as there have been three entries received already.

Mr. Kiesel came to Salt Lake from Ogden yesterday to arrange for taking hold of the delegation. It is expected that the financial part of the arrangements will be made within a few days. In case the Utah band is taken it will come in competition with two United States army bands which will attend, in addition to the famous Mexican government band, which will be sent by Mexico with a large representation from the southern republic.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

The police court yesterday consisted principally of the regular routine of drunks. Judge Whitaker gave four homeless wayfarers a new start in life after they had pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge. Mrs. Anna Fairchild drew five days in jail for drunkenness. George Thomas, who pleaded guilty to driving a crippled horse, was fined $5. The judge reduced the undesirable element considerably by giving "Babe" Seagriff, a notorious Commercial street negro, a "dozer." Sixty days at hard labor in the city jail will await her if she returns to Salt Lake.

A complaint was issued yesterday morning by Assistant City Attorney P. J. Daly against John Kamischke, a foreigner, who was charged with striking Pete Fasulis with a bottle. The trouble occurred Sunday night when the two men were engaged in a discussion over money matters.

Mrs. Mary Miller, once a well-to-do woman, now a permanent fixture in police circles, was again arrested yesterday. Policeman Carlson found the woman in an intoxicated condition lying behind a saloon. She will be charged with drunkenness and vagrancy.

Dr. J. J. Lyons, connected with the Salt Lake Medical Institute, ended a discussion last night in a cigar store by striking a man named George K. Pierce, who took exception to some of his statements. Dr. Lyons was arrested and charged with assault.

CARE OF THE STOMACH.

Indigestion May Be Overcome by Simple Treatment.

In the treatment of stomach troubles, the first thing to do is to get the mucous membrane of the stomach and intestines into a healthy condition. Next in importance comes a strengthening and stimulation of the muscles of the stomach and bowels.

Both results can be best accomplished by the use of McDaniel's Cerebro, a combination of healing remedies for the raw and irritated mucous membrane and strengtheners for the stomach muscles.

McDaniel is not a mere digestive remedy, but is an absolute cure for all stomach disorders (except cancer), and is so reliable in its action that F. C. Schramm sells it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. Every sufferer with stomach troubles should get a 50-cent box and tests its virtue on this guarantee, that it will cost nothing unless it cures.

GUNSHOT WOUND PROVES SERIOUS

Young Man From Wyoming
Loses Arm as Result of Distressing Accident.

John Campbell, familiarly known in his home town of Cumberland, Wyo., as Johnnie Campbell, has lost his left arm as the result of a distressing accident which occurred near Cumberland on Saturday. The accident was due to the discharge of a shotgun which was thought to be not loaded.

Johnnie Campbell is 19 years of age. On Saturday, with three companions, he went hunting. The boys shot at targets until they thought the magazine had been exhausted of its shells. The gun was laid on the ground and Campbell started to mount his horse, taking the gun with him. He put his finger to the trigger and the gun was discharged. The bones of his left arm below the elbow were shattered, the stirrup of the saddle was torn away, and some of the shots struck Ted Wilkes in the ankle, and more of them entered the horse's side.

As quickly as possible Campbell and Wilkes were brought to Cumberland, where the resident physician treated the wounds. Wilkes was not seriously hurt, but it was apparent that Campbell must lose his arm. It was therefore decided to bring him to Salt Lake, inasmuch as the facilities at Cumberland for operations are not extensive. He was accompanied to this city by his parents and by Mrs. L. D. Bell, a school teacher at Cumberland and a close friend of the family.

At the Latter-day Saints hospital Dr. J. C. Lundenberg performed the operation of amputation, the young Campbell is now reported to be progressing favorably.

The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Campbell of Cumberland.
